

June Hawk-Franklin Garden of Meditation and Healing

Healing Inside & Out

We invite you to be a part of this very special place that nurtures the spirits of those who are touched by cancer. The June Hawk-Franklin Garden of Meditation and Healing is part of the therapeutic environment of the Cancer Resource Centre, which promotes the healing of body, mind and spirit with complementary therapies, education and support services. The Centre's free support services helps patients with cancer and their loved ones better manage their stress, relax and regain control of their health, and their lives.

A donation to the June Hawk-Franklin Garden of Meditation and Healing helps to bring beauty into the lives of those who are coping with cancer. Among the shady oak and graceful birch trees, waterfalls empty into serene ponds. A brick path winds past white pine, hemlock, willow, fragrant hydrangeas and medicinal plants. Here, visitors can tap into all their senses and experience the healing qualities of nature.

A photograph of a stone waterfall in a lush garden. The waterfall is constructed from large, flat, grey stones and flows into a small pond. The surrounding area is filled with green plants, including tall grasses and ferns. The background shows a dense forest of trees.

but they happen all the time. — Thomas Wolfe*

The Cancer Resource Centre offers all of its services free of charge. Its support comes from generous individuals like you, area businesses, community groups, grants and volunteers. It is a program of the Community Cancer Research Foundation, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to improving the quality of cancer care. The Cancer Research Foundation also supports cancer research trials offered through the Community Healthcare System hospitals: Community Hospital in Munster; St. Catherine Hospital in East Chicago; and St. Mary Medical Center in Hobart.
